

Transfers to and from Policy

Development recognises that many papers are considered at multiple journals before being accepted for publication - this can be frustrating for authors, and amplifies the workload for reviewers. To combat this, Development is happy to consider papers with reviewer reports from other journals, and to facilitate transfer of reports from Development to other journals. For papers submitted to Development with reports from another journal, authors should supply the full reports from all reviewers and the name of the journal.